HARTFORD, April 5-9 p. m .- The returns are coming in well for the Republicans, indicating the election of the State ticket by about 1,000 majority, and the election of Strong over Dixon, for Congress, in the 1st District. Returns from 40 towns give 821 net Republican gain over last Spring's vote.

The full vote of Hartford gives: For Governor, Marshall Jewell, Republican, 2,766; James E. English, Democrat, 3,275, a Democratic majority of 509. For Congress-Julius E. Strong, Republican, 2,757; James Dixon, Democrat, 3,267; Dixon's majority, 510, a Republicain gain of 147 over the vote for Governor last Spring.

In the following 17 towns of Hartford County there is a net Republican gain of 141 over last Spring. Dixon runs behind his ticket so far:

HARTFORD, Conn., April 5 .- The Times says: The vote of the State will fall 10,000 behind that of last April. Hartford falls off over 400, and New-Haven over 600. The result on Governor is close, with chances in favor of Jewell. The Democrate elect Congressmen in the IId and IVth, and the Republicans in the Ist and IIId Districts. The Legislature shows considerable Demogratic gains; but it will probably be Republican in both tranches by reduced majorities.

THE ALASKA INDIAN DIFFICULTY. steamer Saganaw arrived at Victoria April 3, from Sitka, touching at forts Wrangle, Suppson, and Rupert, on her way down. Since the Indian difficulty the fur trade in Sitks had been entirely suspended, and the Indians were afraid to approach the town. The Kake tribe were terrorstricken. The destruction of their villages, it was thought, would cause them to surrender the murderers of the two white men to the unitary authorities, and that they dare not longer harbor them. The weather at Sitka was wet and disagreeable. The Indians were quiet.

THE ESCAPE OF THE BROADHEAD MURDERERS. Easton, Pa., April 5.-Brooks and Orme, the Broadhead murderers, made their escape during the night of April 2. One of them feigning sickness and calling in the keeper, took his keys from him, and threatened his life if he refused. Orme was captured yesterday, four miles from Strondsburgh, in a hay-mow. The prisoners had stolen two horses and left them on the road, having lost their way. Brooks is still at large, and parties are in pursuit of him. Great excitement prevails.

WASHINGTON.

THE TENURE-OF-OFFICE BILL SIGNED BY THE PRESIDENT - THE SAN DOMINGO ANNEXA-THE PROSPECTS OF THE CURRENCY BILL. IBY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIGUNE.

The hopes, fears, successes, and disappointments which have so long hung on the result of the tedious Civil Tenure subject, were all cemented or swept away to-day by the message of President Grant to the House of Representatives, announcing that he had approved the amended bill which passed both Houses on Thursday last, relating to the tenure of certain civil offices. The bill was sent to the State Department by the President for record. The House Foreign Affairs Committee, at their meeting to-day, had another protracted session on the San Domingo question. Information of an important character, relative to the financial condition of the island, and an earnest desire of the people to be annexed to the United States, has just been laid before the Committee by an agent of that Government. The proposed resolution under discussion authorizes the President to open negotiations for the annexation of the island. Without reaching a conclusion, the subject was postponed until to-morrow. Senora Emilie C. de Volliandre was before the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, to-day, in reference to the imprisonment of her father, Senor Cassanova, a naturalized citizen of the United States, in Havana, by the Spanish authorities. She also called on the President. Amasa Walker of Massachusetts was before the Committee on Banking and Currency, at their meeting to-day, for the purpose of aiding the Committee in arranging the Senate bill to redistribute the $30,-000,000 among the States and Territories, which are at present without their quota of circulation, under the present banking law. The Committee had a long discussion on the question of taking from all banks the circulation in excess of $1,000,000, and an amendment to that effect was finally adopted. The Committee have amended the fourth section of the bill in several particulars, and making the duty of the Controller more explicit in the manner in which the circulation shall be withdrawn from the States and cities, when there is an excess of said circulation. The Committee expect to have the bill ready to report to-morrow. Fears are entertained by the friends of the bill in the Committee and the House that the measure will not be allowed to be reported. If an objection is made, it can only be reported under a suspension of the rules, and it is doubted whether they could get a two-third vote for that purpose. In the Senate to-day, most of the morning hour was occupied in the consideration of the bill authorizing the New-York, London and Newfoundland Telegraph Company to land their cables on our shores. When the bill was up before, Senator Stockton offered an amendment allowing any foreign company incorporated under State laws the same privilege, and understood to be in the interest of the French (Erlanger) company. There is but little prospect of this amendment being adopted, and, evidently to kill time, Mr. Stockton poured out a dose of the most approved Democratic doctrine about Congressional usurpations, the rights of the States, etc., until 1 o'clock, when the bill went over perforce. The House joint resolution to protect the interests of the United States in the Union Pacific Railroad then came up as unfinished business. Several amendments were pending, and upon them quite an interesting debate ensued, Senators taking sides with considerable warmth with the Union Pacific or the Central Pacific, over the dispute as to where the junction shall be made. Senator Stewart alluded to the allegations made by James Fisk relative to the Credit Mobilier, great rascal, the truth of his assertions ought to be inquired into. Mr. Sherman's amendment authorizing the Pesident to fix the point where the junction shall be made was the first in order, but no vote had been reached on it at 4 o'clock, when the Senate went into Executive session. An Executive session lasting about an hour was held, at which about 150 nominations to various offices were reported from the committees, and confirmed. No rejections have yet been made to any of the President's nominations.

This being Monday, the introduction of resolutions and bills on leave for reference to committee only, was in order in the House, and notwithstanding an adjournment is provided for on Saturday, there was no abatement in the number of bills offered. Nothing of importance was done, and legislation for this session is practically at an end. For the purpose of allowing members to uncork themselves and speak their pieces, that The Globe may print them for their constituents to read, night sessions for debate were provided for during the present week. The last half of the session was spent in disposing of the few bills on the speaker's table, among which was a Senate bill to renew the charter of the St. Croix, Lake Superior and Bayfield Railroad Company, for seven more years. This road asks for this renewal after 13 years have been spent by the owners of the charter and land grant in skinning the pine timber off of 1,500,000 acres, without completing a rod of the railroad. After a spicy debate, Messrs. Butler, Kelley, and Julian opposing the renewal of the charter, the bill was sent to Julian's Committee on Public Lands, by a vote of 85 to 41, which is admonitory.

It appears that Secretary Borie's action in decreasing the salaries of the Navy-Yard employees, was done on the strength of a decision of Mr. B olles, Solicitor of the Navy Department. The bricklayers employed at the Navy-Yard in this city, on Saturday, stopped work, under the order to decrease their pay. The reason assigned for the stoppage is that by accepting less wages than is fixed by the Bricklayers' Union as the price of a day's work, they would render themselves liable to expulsion from the Society, and be prevented from obtaining work in the future in any locality where a Union exists. A Committee of the workingmen of the Gosport (Va.) Navy-Yard, arrived in this city, this morning, and are cooperating with the Committees from other Yards, now here, endeavoring to secure the passage by Congress of an explanatory resolution in reference to the eight-hour

The Committee on Ways and Means to-day agreed to hold several meetings during the recess, for the purpose of perfecting a new tariff bill to be reported to the House on the assembling of Congress in December next. This augurs well for the success of an amended tariff law in the next Congress. The difficulty heretofore has been that no bill was ever reported from the Committee until it was too late to secure action before adjournment.

The House Committee on Elections at its meeting to-night took another informal vote on the contested election case of Myers agt. Moffet, and agreed to give the seat to Mr. Myers. The vote stood 7 to 2. Messrs. Randall and Burr. Democrats, will submit a minority report. Both reports will probably be presented to-morrow.

The usual number of visitors were at the White House to-day, and among those who had interviews with the President were Senators Hamlin, Sherman, Trumbull, Harlan, Pomeroy, Morton, Nye, Fenton, Howe, Williams, Chandler and Spencer, and Representatives Logan, Egglesten and Speaker Blaine. All of the members of the Cabinet called on the President during the day, but there was no special meeting for conference.

THE FINANCIAL POSITION OF SAN DOMINGO-A WRIT OF ERROR REFUSED IN THE TWITCH-ELL CASE.

[GENERAL PRESS DISPATCH.] A certified copy of public works grants, franchises, etc., has been received by the House Committee on Foreign Affairs from the Minister of the Interior of San Domingo, which shows that the statements made as to land monopolies and other jobs are without foundation. The debt of the Republic on the 9th of March, '69, did not exceed $600,000, including certain foundation. The debt of the Republic on the 9th of March, '69, did not exceed $600,000, including certain unadjusted claims.

Chief-Justice Chase to-day, in the Supreme Court, delivered an opinion denying a writ of error in the cause of George J. Twitchell, jr., convicted of the murder of Mrs. Hill, upon the ground that the Fifth and Sixth Amendments to the Constitution of the United States were not restrictions upon the State Governments, but only upon the Government of the United States. The claim of the petitioner was, that the Pennsylvania act of 1860 with fregard to indictments for murder was a violation of the Fifth and Sixth Articles of Amendment to the Constitution.

The Supreme Court, to-day, delivered an opinion in the case of James T. Austin, plaintiff in error agt. the Board of Aldermen in error to the Supreme Judicial Court of the Commonwealth of Massuchusetts. The Corporation had taxed a number of shares held by Austin in various banks. He set up the plea that the State act relative to the return and taxation of shares in associations for banking, established under the laws of the United States was repugnant to the statute of the United States was repugnant to the statute of the United States passed June 3, 1864. But the Supreme Court affirmed the validity of the statute of Massachusetts.

In the Supreme Court to-day Mr. Chief-Justice Chase announced the adoption of the following rule viz: Rule No. 54 in Admiralty—Whenever a cross libel is filled upon any counter claim arising out of the same cause of action for which the original libel was filed, the respondents in the cross libel shall give security in the usual amount and form, to respond in damages as claimed in said cross libel shall give security in the usual amount and form, to respond in damages as claimed in said cross libel shall be stayed until such security shall be given. Chief-Justice also announced that the Court would not hear argument after Friday this week, and would take a recess from Thursday the 15th of April.

THE NEW TREASURY BUILDING.

Treasury building is nearly completed, and in a few weeks it will be ready for occupancy. The entire structure, as it now stands, covers an area 520x278 feet, including two large courts. The Grecian Ionic order of architecture has been adopted, but it has been treated in many respects as a Roman order, being mounted on a podum or basement, and crowned with an elegant balustrade, and on all sides presents an imposing appearance. On the Eastern side of the building is a colonnade composed of thirty pillars, extending a distance of 336 feet, north and south. On each of the other sides is a portico, surmounted by a pediment. Each shaft of the columns of the porticos is a monolith, or a single block of stone, 33 feet in hight, and 4 feet 6 inches in diameter. The buttress caps, which partially inclose the steps of the porticos, are single slabs of granite, each 20 feet square by 2 feet in thickness. The granite used in the construction of this building was quarried on Dix's Island, off the coast of Maine, and brought hither at great expense. Most of the larger slabs were cut after their arrival in Washington, as the risk of transporting them in a rough state was less than it otherwise would have been. The site of the new wing is the one formerly occupied by the old State Department. Fronting the north entrance is a large fountain, the central base of which is 12 feet in diameter, and five feet high, and was cut from a single block of granite. The wing is 65x195 feet building. To do this a current is introduced directly As the air becomes noxious it escapes by means of of the various rooms. One, on walking through the vaulted passageways, cannot help pausing to observe the massive columns of iron and granite. Ascending a flight of stairs we come to the basement or ground floor, which is well lighted and ventilated, and flagged with marble blocks. There are six large offices on this floor, beside toilet and other rooms. The floor above, or entrance story, as it is called, contains the cash-room, the apartments to be occupied by Treasurer Spinner, and other rooms connected with this department. Each of the second and third stories contains nine large offices, which are to be occupied by the various bureaus of the Internal Revenue Department. The attic will be used as offices and storeroom for the files and papers of the Treasury Department. The cash-room is situated in the center of the wing, looking directly out on the court, which is large enough for a small lawn. The cash-room is 70x32, and 28 feet high. The upper and lower stories are separated by a gallery running entirely around the room. The walls are lined with Sienna marble, which is beautiful beyond description. The first story is treated after the Corinthian style of architecture, the stylobate being composed of Dove, Tennessee, Sienz and white marble, supported by a black marble base. The pilasters and cornice are of white Italian marble, the caps being cut after the elegant example of the Temple of Jupiter Startor. The pilasters are coupled, and the spaces between derneath with white Italian marble paneled in bronze frames, and surmounted by a handsome bronze railing of emblematic pattern, representing corn, wheat, tobacco, cotton, grapes, &c., as products of the country, and the canduces of Mercury, sea shells only difference being that the order of architecture is Composite instead of Corinthian. The ceiling is divided into panels by a series of bold ribs. All of the ornamental work is "picked out" in gold. The counter will be in keeping with the rest of the room, the design being similar to the stylobate. A screen of plate glass and mahogany will surround it, separating the officials from the public. Leaving the Cash Room, the visitor is ushered into the private offices of the Assistant Treasurer, which are fitted up in the most elegant manner, but devoid of the gaudy appearance which characterize offices of the New-York Court-House.

Immediately adjoining the eastern end of the Cash Room is the Vault. At present it resembles a huge safe without shelves or drawers. It is composed of five thicknesses of metal, two of which are of the very best case-hardened spring steel. The size of the Vault is 13x18x13 feet, and it is secured by two massive doors, furnished with combination locks of the latest approved patterns. On the north-east corner of the wing are the Treasurer's apartments. The private offices consist of a suite of two rooms, with toilet-rooms adjoining. furnished with every convenience. All of the doors and window-frames throughout the building are of cast-iron, and the doors and other wood-work are constructed of mahegany. The bronze door-knobs and other metallic trimmings in use about the edifice are of chaste and unique pattern.

Many of the public buildings of Washington are poorly ventilated, but this is not the case with the north wing of the Treasury building, and in a sanitary point of view there is much more comfort in being a Treasury clerk down town than a member of the House or Senate at the Capitol. Much credit is due to A. B. Mullett, Supervising Architect of the Treasury Department, under whose supervision the

A walk through the Treasury building reminds one of a visit to some grand hotel, and there can be no doubt but that Gen. Spinner and the members of his department will spend many a happy hour with in its granite walls.

Warmoth, Police Commissioner McDuff, and the Superintendent of Police, Cain, for op-pression, in having forcibly ejected without cause, Auditor Wickliffe from his office, and retained possession of the same. Gov. Warmoth, this morning, presented himself before the First District Court, and announced his readiness to enter into any bonds that night be required for his appearance whenever required, stating that he had learned through the press of the city of his indictment. JUDGE BREWSTER TO THE GRAND JURY OF PHILADELPHIA. PHILADELPHIA, April 5 .- Judge Brewster, in a charge to the Grand Jury, said :

PHILADELPHIA, Aphr. Outside PHILADELPHIA, Aphr. Outside a charge to the Grand Jury, said:

"It is to be feared that we deal too leniently with those who make crime their profession, and that we at times endeavor to atone for this error by rushing into opposite extremes and indiscriminate prosecution of the innocent along with the guilty. I would recommend you to see to it that no criminal goes unpunished by our remissness, and that no innocent person suffers delay even of an hour in securing his discharge. It is time that the bad should be made to feel the power of the law. It has come to pass, gentlemen, that men are shot down or stoned to death upon our highways, and that the law seems as powerless for their vindication as it was for their protection. Grand Juries hesitate to find true bills, and Petit Juries of late refuse to convict except of inferior grades, frequently coupling those verdicts with recommendations to mercy, and even in an occasional case of great atrocity, when conviction is followed by a sentence of death, the executive is besieged for a pardon. It is owing to these efforts to thwart justice that it has come to pass in Philadelphia, that it is more dangerous for a man to pick a pocket than to take a life. The three is much more certain of being punished than the murderer. This will continue until public opinion undergoes a change.

PORTANT POSITION BY THE GOVERNMENT TROOPS-THE BLOCKADE OF AUX CAYES--

Murray, jr., from Port-au-Prince, dates to the 20th of March have been received from that place. On the 10th of the month President Salnave left the capital for Archahale, on his way to Gonaives. On arriving at the former place he immediately ordered an at-riving at the former place he immediately ordered an attack by his troops upon the advanced forts of the insurgent forces, which resulted in the capture and occupation of the intrenched rebel camp at Croix Luly. After this success the President proceeded to Gonaives, where he was received by both the population and the army with the greatest enthusiasm. Without any delay Fort Bieuade was attacked by the Government troops, the rebels driven out, leaving six pieces of cannon behind them, and the fort completely destroyed by the victors. This achievement was an important one for Salnave, as the fort was situated on an emimence commanding Gonaives, thus enabling the Cacos to keep up a harrassing fire upon the besieged town.

In the South matters were not looking so favorable for the Government, as a considerable number of the Piquets, or mountaineers of that part of the country, who have hitherto stood by Salnave, were disbanding and returning to their homes. Aux Cayes was still blockaded by the was teamer Alexandre Petion, but the Inhabitants were kept from starvation by supplies of native provisions re-to their homes. Aux Cayes was still blockaded by the war steamer Alexandre Petion, but the inhabitants were kept from starvation by supplies of native provisions received from the interior of the country. Capt. Nichola of, the Petion had been removed from the command of that vessel by Salnave.

There was something like a commercial panic at Portau-Prince, and exchange had risen to 300. Those merchants who had furnished drafts to the Government, and who wanted to be refunded in duties, had pushed up the price of coffee to $1,400 Haytian currency, which had forced up exchange to the high figure quoted, and had produced the same effect in proportion upon produce. This state of things has engaged the attention of the Government, which had in contemplation the immediate adoption of some plan for putting a stop to wild speculations and regulating the prices of coffee. It was confidently expected that such measures would be adopted as would relieve trade and restore confidence.
